Ingredients

- 4 servings pepper black freshly ground
- 12 caper
- 0.5 cup bottled clam juice
- 1 pound fennel bulb quartered
- 2 medium garlic clove finely chopped
- 1 cup olive green pitted coarsely chopped
- 4 servings kosher salt

- 2 tablespoons juice of lemon freshly squeezed (from 1 medium lemon)
- 24 ounce mackerel
- 3 tablespoons olive oil plus more for oiling the grill
- 1 tablespoon parsley fresh italian coarsely chopped
- 1 pinch saffron threads
- 2 pounds tomatoes seeds removed cored halved

Equipment

- bowl
- frying pan
- paper towels
- sauce pan
- grill
- aluminum foil
- spatula
- grill pan
- cutting board

Directions

- Heat a grill pan or outdoor grill to medium high (about 375°F to 425°F). Meanwhile, brush the tomatoes and fennel all over with half of the measured olive oil and season with salt and pepper; set aside. When the grill is ready, place the tomatoes and fennel on the grill and cook uncovered until grill marks form, about 3 to 4 minutes. Flip the vegetables and cook until grill marks appear on the other side, about 3 to 4 minutes more.
- Remove to a cutting board. When the vegetables are cool enough to handle, cut and discard the cores from the fennel. Chop both the fennel and tomatoes into 1-1/2-inch pieces and place in a medium saucepan.
- Add the fish broth or clam juice, garlic, and saffron and stir to combine. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat. Reduce the heat to medium low and simmer until the vegetables have softened, about 20 minutes. Keep warm while you grill the fish. (If you're using a grill pan, use several layers of paper towel to wipe the pan clean before grilling the fish.)

- Heat the grill to medium high. Rub the grates with a towel dipped in olive oil. Pat the mackerel fillets dry with paper towels.
- Brush both sides with the remaining measured olive oil and season both sides with salt and pepper.
- Place the fillets on the grill skin-side down and cook until grill marks appear, about 2 to 3 minutes. Flip the fillets with a flat spatula and cook until grill marks appear on the other side and the fish is cooked through, about 2 minutes more.
- Remove the fillets to a plate and tent with foil.
- Add the parsley to the warm tomato-fennel mixture and stir to combine. Taste and season with salt and pepper as needed. Divide the tomato-fennel mixture among 4 rimmed serving plates or shallow bowls and top each serving with a piece of mackerel. Top the fish with about 1 tablespoon of the tapenade (you will have some left over), sprinkle with the caperberries or capers, and serve immediately.
