- 1.5 cups mint leaves fresh
- 10 garlic clove thinly sliced
- 1.3 cups grapeseed oil neutral
- 0.8 cup juice of lime fresh
- 1 pound vermicelli dried hot softened drained

- 1 tablespoon salt as needed plus more
- 0.5 cup sugar
- 0.5 cup butter unsalted
- 0.8 cup sesame seed white plus more for garnish

Equipment

- bowl
- frying pan
- sauce pan
- pot
- blender

Directions

- Put 3 tablespoons of the oil in a medium skillet over medium–low heat.
- Add the garlic and cook, stirring occasionally, until the garlic turns golden, about 10 minutes; set aside.
- Meanwhile, combine the lime juice and sugar in a small saucepan and bring to a boil. Set aside.
- Fill a large bowl with water and ice and set aside.
- Bring a small pot of water to a boil and add the basil and mint leaves. As soon as the water returns to a boil, drain the leaves and transfer to the ice water. When cold, drain again and squeeze dry. Purée in a blender with the sesame seeds, garlic, salt, and 1 cup of the oil. (This herb paste will keep, refrigerated, for 2 days.)
- Heat the remaining 3 tablespoons oil in a skillet over high heat.
- Add the vegetables and some salt and cook, tossing, just until brightly colored. Keep warm.
- Bring a large pot of water to a boil and salt it. Cook the noodles until tender, 30 seconds.
- Drain and transfer to a large skillet set over high heat with the butter and lime syrup; add salt to taste and cook, tossing, until well mixed and creamy.
- Put the noodles in a warmed serving bowl; drizzle liberally with the basil–mint paste, top with the vegetables, garnish with the sesame seeds, and serve.
