Ingredients

- 1 teaspoon peppercorns black
- 1 cup wine dry white
- 2 teaspoons fennel seeds
- 1 tablespoon thyme sprigs fresh chopped
- 4 cloves garlic chopped
- 1 tablespoon kosher salt
- 6 pound pork loin bone-in
- 2 tablespoons butter unsalted cold cut into pieces

1 cup water

Equipment

- bowl
- oven
- knife
- whisk
- baking pan
- roasting pan
- kitchen thermometer
- aluminum foil
- cutting board

Directions

- Mince and mash garlic, salt, and thyme to make a paste with a large heavy knife and transfer to a small bowl.
- Grind fennel seeds and peppercorns in spice grinder until finely ground and stir into garlic paste.
- Rub paste all over meat and fat side of roast, pressing to adhere.
- Place, fat side up, in a small roasting pan or a (13- by 9-inch) baking pan and marinate in the fridge, loosely covered, for at least to 2 and up to 6 hours.
- Let stand at room temperature 1 hour before roasting.
- Preheat oven to 350°F.
- Put roast in a small roasting pan fat side up (if it isn't in roasting pan already) and pour wine and water into bottom of pan.
- Roast pork in middle of oven (or lower third if making whole menu) until an instant read thermometer inserted into center of meat (do not touch bone) registers 140°F, about 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours.
- Remove roast from oven and let rest, loosely covered with foil, in roasting pan 25 to 30 minutes (internal temperature will go up 10 degrees while meat is resting).

- Transfer the roast to a cutting board, and using a long knife, cut meat from bone in one piece. Slice into 1/2-inch thick slices, keeping slices together.
- Transfer the bones to a large serving platter and arrange meat on the bone.
- Heat juices in roasting pan until bubbling, then add butter and whisk into pan until incorporated.
- Serve sauce alongside meat.
