12 servings salt

12 pound turkey

12 servings pepper black freshly ground
1 quart chicken broth canned
1 cup cup heavy whipping cream
O.5 cup flour
2 garlic clove
1 onion halved
3 rosemary

	0.3 pound vegetable oil melted (1 stick)
Equipment
	frying pan
	oven
	whisk baking pan roasting pan
	kitchen thermometer
	aluminum foil ziploc bags
	microwave
Directions
	Preheat oven to 450°F.
	Put the onion, garlic, and rosemary, if using, into the empty turkey cavity.
	Place the turkey in a large roasting pan, breast side up, and brush with the butter or oil.
	Place in the oven, uncovered, and roast, unattended, for 1 hour. Carefully remove the turkey from the oven (close the door of the oven), watching out for steam.
	Brush the turkey with butter or its juices. Return to the oven quickly and reduce the heat to 400°F.Roast another 30 minutes, checking the pan juices occasionally. Cover with foil if the breast is too brown. Cook another 30 minutes, adding stock if the pan juices evaporate.
	The turkey is done when a meat thermometer inserted in its thigh registers 170°F and the juices run clear.
	Let rest 10 minutes (the temperature should rise 10 degrees in 10 minutes).
	Remove the turkey to a board or platter for carving. Carve. Discard the onions and garlic from inside the turkey. The turkey can be made a day ahead and refrigerated before reheating, carved, or it can be carved 10 minutes after resting.
	If you decide to roast and carve the turkey ahead of time or if you want to freeze a portion of the turkey for another occasion, place the carved turkey in a shallow baking dish, cover it with broth, then wrap with foil or place the dish in a plastic bag; refrigerate for up to 2 days or Add as much cream as desired. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

	Add water or canned broth or stock if a thinner gravy is desired.
	Whisk in the rest of the broth, and boil until thick and flavorful, stirring occasionally. Strain if lumpy or any part is burned.
	Whisk the flour into the fat and cook, stirring, until the flour turns light brown.
	Remove all but 1/2 cup of the fat. Keep as much of the juices as possible.
	While the turkey is resting, place the pan over medium-high heat. The skin, fat, and juices should be a beautiful dark bronze, not black.
